Risk Transfer under the CISG for Gold (allegedly) Stolen in Ghana

The Federal Supreme Court clarifies the conditions for risk transfer under the CISG and joint liability under the SCO. The Court confirms that when it comes to sales contracts involving transportation of goods, risk remains with the seller until the goods have been delivered to the carrier, and that joint liability can be established through contractual form as well as subsequent conduct.