Under What Conditions can an Option Right be Enforced in a Shareholders Agreement?

In a shareholders' agreement, an option right was granted to four brothers to keep a family business within the family. It proved useful when the fourth brother decided to grant a third party an emption right.